by BETSY-ANN

The Play House will open May 1. This is really a day nursery to be opened and operated by Mrs. Robert A. McConaghay, Jr., at her home, 110 Forrest Ave., for the wives of men in service. The wives of service men may leave their children in competent hands and go to work, knowing their children will be happy and well taken care of while they are away. There are already five applicants, and many helpers to look after the tiny tots. The Play House has three large play rooms, all freshly painted in cream enamel and decorated with colorful murals. The room is decorated with nursery rhymes.

There are plenty of small tables and chairs and bookcases to take care of their books and toys. When the weather is warm there will be sand boxes and swings in the back yard with which to entertain the children. A large porch runs across the front and side of the building. The children may be outdoors as much as the weather permits.

Mrs. McConaghay will also have what she terms a "Parking Service." This is open to any mother who wishes to drop her child for so, there is a small extra charge for your child's lunch. Joy Ann Gebhart, aged two years, will be first visitor to the Play House.

Met a few boys home on furlough this week.

Robert Knapp, Aviation Machinist Mate 1-C home for a week-end from detached duty from Norfolk Air base, will report back to Philadelphia Navy Yard for assignment.

Corp. William M. Nielson of Montgomery Court Apartments home on seven day furlough from Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. Will report to Fort Dix.

Pvt. William Baufeld of 120 Conway Ave. had a weekend from Camp Pickett.

Charles A. Bailey, Jr., Seaman 1/C, has a 10-day furlough from Armed Guard Center, Brooklyn, New York.

Li. Col. Allison Hartman, husband of Anna Spier, had a weekend from Chestnut Ave., arrived somewhere on the continent April 19. Since then Ann has received five V-Mail letters from him. Isn't it amazing how fast these letters come through?

The Silver Star was awarded Lt. Edward G. Campbell, 24, Gwynne wife, Marjorie, resides at 274 Gwynne Lane, Wynnewood. Campbell was cited for gallantry in communication officer on the U. S. S. Graveling in action against the Japanese forces and for his leadership as commander of a transport in aiding others to abandon ship when the vessel was sinking due to a bombing attack off the Solomon last August.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Hess of 419 S. 10th St. had a weekend of guests their son-in-law and daughter, Yeoman, 1-C, Richard Edward Geschke and Wave 2 C Judy Hess Geschke, who were married April 15 in St. Stephens Church, Washington, D. C.

You have all heard about the thousands of air cadets who have been taken out of the Air Force and put back in the infantry. This week I talked with one of these boys who has landed in the Southern camp. When I asked him what the camp looked like, he said, "Just imagine the hard-

General H. H. Arnold:

"We all have one aim, one mission, one goal—the winning of the war."

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—General Arnold asked that the following be printed as his message to the boys and girls of Lower Merion High School when he attended school. It is the speech made by General Arnold before Lower Merion's championship basketball game with John Bartram High School.

This is a happy occasion for me in many respects. Although I don't require that I fly all over the globe, this is the part of America I call home.

Before me are young athletes from the school I once attended, Lower Merion High. They have shown great skill in a game they love.

Before me are the hard-working members of the Red Cross. Before me are several hundred CAP Enlisted Reservist Cadets and Civilian Cadets—all of them ready for increased responsibilities.

Before me is an audience as large as any Army combat division, and I am sure that almost every family represented in this audience has someone in service. Perhaps that someone has shown himself to be a hero, for many of them have come from all over and around Philadelphia.

This is a happy occasion because we all have one aim, one mission, one goal—the winning of the war.

I consider it a privilege to talk to you American citizens. The Air Force owes you a debt.

There have said that no man, no group of men could possibly have created the Army Air Force. We have become a reality through the outpouring of the will and energy of an entire nation.

We now have the largest air force in the world. The building of it required the efforts of one hundred and thirty million people—people such as you who are here tonight.

On the basketball floor in this auditorium, we are seeing an exciting game. A game in which each member of the team does his job and helps his teammates do theirs. Obeying the rules, each player strives to win.

MAIN LINE LIONS CLUB SPONSORS ARDMORE IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

'Delighted At the Opportunity,' Says Head of Club; Mickey Gavin to Serve As Part Time Coach and Scout

After a lapse of three years Ardmore again will be represented by a first class baseball team in the Main Line League this Summer.

Al Mueller, energetic secretary of the Lower Merion Township Police department who has managed Overbrook for the last three years, announced yesterday he is transferring his franchise to Ardmore under the sponsorship of the Main Line Lions Club.

The spacious Wynnewood Road playground has been secured as a home site for Sunday games.

Mueller also revealed that Rudy Biberosch, veteran Overbrook outfielder, has been named co-manager and that popular young Mickey Gavin, one of the Main Line League's all-time greats, has agreed to serve as part-time coach and scout.

"We are delighted at the opportunity to sponsor a ball club for Ardmore," said Joseph M. Baltz, president of the Main Line Lions Club. "A first class team will be one of the recreation needs of our community. I'm sure the residents will take pride in the club and support it accordingly."

"We're not going to promise any permanent winner," said Mueller, "but I'm sure we'll have a team you won't be ashamed of, one capable of putting up a good game against all comers."

Mueller expects to use veterans of his Overbrook team as a nucleus and hopes to complete his squad with the best local high school and college material available. His club will have its first official workout at the Wynnewood Road playground on Sunday, May 7 at which time all players in the vicinity are invited to try out for the team.

Among the former Overbrook players available are Fred Brittingham, shortstop; Jack Caselbaum, catcher; Harry Robinson, pitcher; John Praul, catcher and infielder; Al Robinson, first base; Harry Mueller, third base; and Biberosch and Mueller, outfielders.

Ardmore's home schedule won't be known until the next meeting of the league which is slated for Monday, May 8 at Narberth.

The Garden Club of Bala-Cynwyd will host a luncheon and flower show on May 4. Entries must be in place by 11 A. M. and the luncheon will be at noon.

After luncheon there will be a talk by Miss Hazel Heisenbuttle to discuss color harmony and texture.

The following classes will be exhibited: Class 1—Arrangement for a breakfast tray. Exhibitor supply: glass tray, cover, china and glassware.

Class 2—Arrangement with a single place setting for a luncheon for four, served on a card table; exhibitor supplying cover, glassware and china.

Class 3—Single place setting on a card table, arrangement in scale for dinner for six; exhibitor supplying cover, glassware and china.

Class 4—Arrangement of flowering shrubs in tall container.

Class 5—Arrangement of any Spring flowers or plant material in low container.

Miss Heisenbuttle will also discuss and criticize the exhibits with emphasis on color harmony and textures.

EDITORIAL

SOUTH ARDMORE—A GOOD CONTEST IS A HEALTHY POLITICAL THING

The long-faced argument that Edwin W. Semans and his Wynnewood independents have mortally wounded the cause of Republicanism because they waged a sticker campaign in South Ardmore is political slander. Several have even suggested that this exhibition of healthy independence will affect the party's chance of sending someone to the White House.

This is the psychology of a man floundering around for an alibi.

If anything, Semans and his independents have strengthened the cause of Republicanism. They have removed that helpless fear that nothing can be done to alter the course of local politics.

Arguments that harmony at any price strengthens a political party are silly as well as detrimental to the party's best interests. Harmony must be genuine to prevent either an indifference among voters or a drift from party allegiance. Fictitious tales of harmony are the tools of slyster politicians and of ward heelers who can think of nothing better to say.

The independents have strengthened the party by demonstrating that any group with right and energy on its side can reshape anti-social tactics within the party. Men and women often change their party affiliations because there is no hope of political expression within the party framework. A political organization, unafraid at any time to stand the test of popular vote, grows in strength; likewise, an organization that leans too heavily on its power of control and its henchmen loses ground.

Those who are seeing party disunity boogey men should be reminded that Semans and his independents didn't start the South Ardmore committee fight. It started when Lower Merion commissioners, prompted by political directives, ignored petitions to fill a commissioner vacancy that they had asked the citizens to prepare. When one candidate presents a petition with almost twice as many signatures as another candidate and then the other candidate gets the job you have the makings of a political uprising.

James N. Sluss has been appointed South Ardmore commissioner and the independents have expressed their resentment against the committee people who were responsible for this appointment. To our knowledge, none of the independents claimed Sluss was anything less than an honorable gentleman. Now he is on his own to do a forceful job of representing the largest voting district in Lower Merion Township. By the type of representation he gives Ardmore he can prove his mettle.

What he can't disprove, however—and this is no reflection on him—is that Lower Merion commissioners failed to use civic judgment in making the appointment.

It has been said the commissioners are entitled to respect. True public respect begins for a public official when he respects himself and holds inviolable those governing principles which he swears to defend when he takes his oath of office.

est baseball diamond you have ever seen in the hottest country. You have ever been in, and then put a blower on it. Dust—no never saw such dust! They really didn't need to camouflage the buildings, you wouldn't be able to see them anyhow. These boys feel pretty low, they had their basic training in the Infantry—that really means they have had the works. They have had the work and the resulting high marks they made the Air Corps. To be back in the Infantry is hard to take.

What is amazing is that these boys fall in with whatever is at hand—they say we are ready for anything. Just so we can get the war over. When I asked him what battalion he was in, he said, "Lightning—took them three days to find me a blanket—slept in my overcoat under another guy's bed for three nights. That five months I had in the Air Corps was just my vacation in the Army—it was wonderful."

George (Jiggs) Torchiana, of the Beechwood Apartments has taken over the Mobile Gas Station at Forest and Haverford Avenues, formerly operated by Joe McGuire. Lots of luck, "Jiggs."

Don Amesbury of the National Bank of Narberth was being honored and passing out cigars on April 25. No wonder! They have a brand new baby girl, born at 4 o'clock last Tuesday morning.

Just now there is such a store of new books. Some say there aren't any clean stories any more—but there is Martha Ostenso's "O River Remember." Her descriptions of early farming in Ohio will long be remembered. "Reunion of Strawberry Hill" by Bernice Thorpe, and "Growing Up" by Angela Thirkell. Then there are those who will read nothing about war. Don't you think that is kind of playing ostrich? We are at war, we should know something about it. Quentin Reynolds has a new book, "The Curtain Rises."

"D Day" by John Gunther, and "Wingate's Raiders" by Charles J. Boal, all authentic books. Other books on the shelves are "The Angel with the Trumpet" by Ernest Lothar, "Hotel Berlin" by Helen MacInnes, and that delightful little book by Ketti Frings, "God's Front Porch." Discussing the Negro question are "Colcord" by Edith Pope, "Liana" by Martha Gellhorn, and the much discussed "Strange Fruit" by Lillian Smith, which Boston banned. "Treason" by Robert Gessner is a new one on the story of Benedict Arnold, and much liked. "Shore Leave" by Frederick Wakeman, is our soldier boys on leave and what they think about it. "Nine to Five" by Harry Smith, is a hilarious story of the o. j. ice. "Mr. C. Strings Along" by Robert Wilder will be read by all men who read "God Has a Long Face." Last but not least there is "Bedford Village" by Harvey Allen, "Final Hour" by Taylor Caldwell, "Razor's Edge" by W. Somerset Maugham, "Canal Town" by Samuel Hopkins Adams, and "The King Liveli" by Jeffrey Farnol. Who said there weren't any new books?

—Betsy Ann.

On the arduous merge of sky, land, and water in the patchwork background of blue, green, and violet are emblazoned a rather spotted horse, and in general a heterogeneous collection of articles in the eccentric "Vacation Dream" by Albert P. Abraham.

Noteworthy in the field of still life are: "Toto's Mask" by Jeanne H. McLaugh, one of the youngest artists represented, a student at the Academy, and "Wedgewood Pitcher" by Elizabeth R. Hoffmann, is rather Chardin-like in concept, execution and feeling of solidity. There are others by Barbara Tower, Leon Karp, Alice T. Roberts, Margaret Christy, Katharine Schlatter and Eleanor Arnesen.

Flowers are charmingly portrayed by Edith Brody, Elizabeth Coyne, Doris Weidner and Edith Wood. The latter has created in oils, with a light water-color technique, a delicately fresh and slightly original floral painting.

In picturing the out-of-doors, fields, city streets, seascapes, the artists have favored a grey light. In this category are found two snow scenes by Antonio P. Martinez, "Fishin' at Barnegat" by Albert B. Serway, "Three Brides After the Rain" by Margaretta Hinckman, and "Northeast" by Catherine Morris Wright, as well as landscapes by Katharine Barkes, Ernest Lothar, Reinsel, Thomas Flavel, Mary Butler, Oliver Nuse, Catherine Grant, Edith T. Scarlett, Adrian Siegel, Margaret Christy, Dorothy Van Loan. Also included are three very entertaining street scenes by Nancy Ferguson, Hazel Kasputin and Norman Carlton.

year olds at the request of Narberth mothers.

Honorable mention for service to the community went to the Woman's Club of Ardmore for establishing an interdenominational Bible club for children, which is taught by Mrs. S. E. Slocum. Bible study is taught to 7 to 10 year olds of every creed and color every Thursday after school at the club house, with an average attendance of 40 and 105 enrolled.

Mrs. Zipp won second place in the book review contest sponsored by Mrs. Charles E. Neville of Cynwyd, county literature chairman, for her review of the book, "Between Tears and Laughter," by Lin Tu Tang.

Congressman Samuel K. McConnell, of Penn. Wynne, who spoke at the county meeting, said that women must bring more discipline and a reinvigorated morality into the home and must take an interest in legislation, that home may be a real place for their service men to return to.

Mr. McConnell said that a preferential job bill for returning soldiers has already been passed in Congress and other impending bills for service men cover hospitalization, educational opportunities, credit facilities that they may maintain their homes, and unemployment insurance.

State Representative Harold C. Pike, former Commissioner of Cheltenham Township, told the group that new and efficient laws will be needed both at Harrisburg and Washington to help the country through the difficult postwar period and that the advice of women is needed and will be considered.

Mrs. Bonaro Overstreet, psychologist, declared that "no legal provision has been made as yet for disposing of people just because they're psychologically dead" and outlined these seven ways to avoid this pitfall and keep on excellent terms with life. Keep physical senses active by new experiences; keep on learning the viewpoint of those at different vantage points; acquire new physical skills periodically; avoid the middle-aged mental slump into indifference; take moral and social adventures that go with making something better; admire someone deeply or serve someone larger than yourself and stay young by keeping your moral interest.

Mrs. G. Ira Stott, State Federation chairman of conservation and gardens, gave an up-to-the-minute account of conservation needs in the country.

The Book Review Contest, staged by the Literature Department were: 1. Mrs. F. S. Armentrout, Jr., of Harboro Neighbors, for a review of the book, "George Washington Carver" by Rockham Holt; 2. Mrs. Zipp, and 3. Jane Saville Rutman of the Perkinson Valley Women's Club for "The Apostle" by Sholem Asch.

Party To Benefit Salvation Army

A card and game party for the benefit of the Salvation Army will be given by the chairman and co-workers of the Aramink Estates and Eagle Farms sections, May 5, at 8:30 P. M., in the Bon Air Community House.

The committee included Mrs. Gus Dougherty, chairman; Mrs. Walter Hill, Mrs. William Ostrom, Mrs. Paul Maderia, Mrs. Paul Weiss, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Howard Walters, Mrs. R. W. Tomlinson, Mrs. Edwin Ford, Sr., and Mrs. W. S. Treganowan.

ally for the selection of a Congressman and a member of the General Assembly. The fact that the Republican returns exceeded that Tuesday was attributed to the large turnout in several sections where contests for Committee places were in progress.

In the only contest for a major office, insofar as the county is concerned, Republican Organization supported candidates won easily. That was for General Assembly in the Third Legislative District where Howard F. Boorse, Lansdale; Lloyd H. Wood, Evansburg, and Henry J. Probert, Bethayres, were candidates for the three positions with Organization backing. Running independently was Emerson C. Custis, Erdenheim, who claimed to have the united support of firemen and business men of the area. Custis polled a total of 5,246 while his three opponents each polled almost three times that number. Republican County Chairman Wood was high with 14,038; Boorse second with 13,878; and Probert third with 12,184.

In the Second District Lambert Cadwalader, Lower Merion, and unopposed, polled 5,504 votes in the Second District. Arthur Charles H. Brunner, Jr., Norrisstown, polled 3,529 without opposition.

In the State wide contest for Judge of the Superior Court, former Governor Arthur H. James headed the ticket in Montgomery County, polled 22,881. J. Frank Graft was second with 20,559. Chester H. Rhodes polled 5,497.

The vote for James J. Davis, unopposed candidate for U. S. Senator, was 24,886, and for J. Edgar W. Hughes, for State Superior Court, 24,717.

G. Harold Watkins, for Auditor General, polled 24,663 and Edgar W. Baird, Jr., for State Treasurer, 24,630.

Congressman Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., candidate for re-election from Montgomery County, received 23,908 votes.

Republican Delegates at Large, without opposition, were: Governor Edward Martin, G. Mason Owlett, M. Harvey Taylor and Marion M. Scranton. Alternate Delegates at Large: Caroline M. Ruber, William A. Baird, Margaret H. Lamade and Edna R. Carroll.

Frederick C. Peters, Ardmore, and Miss Nancy P. Highley, Norrisstown, were elected without opposition as members of the State Committee from Montgomery County.

G. O. P. Delegates District (County) Delegates to the National Convention, also without opposition, were: Joseph N. Pew, Jr., Lower Merion, and Russell E. Crawford, West Norriton. Alternate District Delegates are Miss Nancy P. Highley and Alvin K. Rothenberger, the latter of West Norriton.

The principal contest for major office on the Democratic ballot was for Auditor General with John F. Breslin and G. Harold Wagner as the candidates. Wagner, who was endorsed by the State organization, won easily in the county: 2,329 for Wagner and 1,159 for Breslin.

For State Superior Court, J. Clair Ross led in the County with 2,329.

Thomas J. Mangano, Villa Nova, and W. J. Elmer, Ponty, both towns, were elected county Delegates to the National Convention while Alternate District Delegates named are Lillian M. Barclay, North Wales R. D. and Katherine P. Gotschalk, Perkiomenville.

Lots Available For Victory Gardens

Owing to conditions beyond the control of several of our townspeople, who had to cancel their Victory Garden leases, the Lower Merion Victory Garden Committee announces that several lots are now available on the Upper Shortridge Estate, just off Wynnwood Road, opposite Narberth Pennsylvania Railroad underpass and East of Wynnwood Park Apartments. This tract has been harrowed and the lots are in excellent condition and ready for planting.

14 Mumps Cases In Contagious Report

Mumps showed a sharp increase in the list of new contagious cases reported by Lower Merion Township for the week ending April 21.

There were 14 new cases of mumps, 7 cases of chicken pox, 3 cases of German measles, 1 case of measles, and 5 cases of scarlet fever.

This makes a total of 276 contagious cases reported for the year.

HIGH NOTES

By DAVID MALICKSON
Class of 1945, Lower Merion High School

General Arnold's Address

Every school "brags" of being the Alma Mater of at least one person who has achieved the top rung on the ladder of success. Lower Merion's fame and glory lies in a man who will lead America to victory, in the present conflict, by use of air power. The man whom we have reference to is none other than our "own" Henry H. Arnold, Commanding General of the Army Air Forces, who attended Lower Merion when it, like a germinating seed, had just begun to push its way through the "darkness," later to blossom into a fine institution. Although there was a yearbook at L. M. back in the early part of the century, a few varying descriptions of the school have been pieced together by the writer.

The L. M. of today held sessions in the top floor section of the Ardmore Avenue School Building until 1910, when what is now known as the "old" building was erected. Prior to the Ardmore Avenue School, there were numerous small, local high schools throughout the township. Parking presented no problem in those days because you either walked or borrowed the family horse drawn coach. Toll gates were scattered along Montgomery Pike—one being at the intersection of the Pike and Church Road. School activities consisted of an orchestra, constituted of 12 members, and a Science Club, as well as athletics which were practiced on the adjoining "open spaces". Radnor was our football rival even back in '03 (a year in which they beat L. M. 6-0). In "those days" they had a very powerful team, led by L. M. in eight successive years (as those WERE the days, eh Radnorites?).

Soph Hop Big Success

The decorating committee found itself in quite a dilemma the night before the dance, when members of the committee discovered that they would have to decorate the gymnasium with "remnants" of crepe paper. One member came to the rescue, however, and presented his plan to change the theme from Arbor decorations to a Rainbow. So it was, that 166 couples danced to the strains of Rodger Kent and his orchestra at the Sophomore Hop last Saturday night under a "rainbow" rather than an "arbor" theme. Special decorating honors go to Becky Leach and Polly Williams for spelling out Soph Hop with crepe paper letters three feet high on the South bleacher. "Members of the Refreshment Committee—Bob Dee, Oscar Alvig, Dick Warren, Al Strickler, Ruth Watrous, Joe Brower and Bob Davis—also deserve special mention," stated Mr. J. Fetter, class sponsor, "for executing their task in such an efficient manner." The class treasury was swelled by an additional $100 as a result of the affair.

Hi-Y Conducts Paper Drive

Bob Anderson and members of the Boys' Hi-Y conducted a second paper salvage campaign which netted the organization 4,794 pounds of news paper and 1,708 pounds of magazines. Profits of the drive will be divided between the American Red Cross and the other portion will be retained for school use.

As a result of the first drive ten dollars was donated to the Bryn Mawr Hospital; the balance being used for the Memorial Altar. Officers of the club are: Joe Poole, president; Bill Craemer, vice president; Charles Yardi, secretary; Dirk Slett, treasurer.

FLASHES . . . War Bond and Stamp sales total $44,610.95 during the period of September-April. . . . Nominations for next year's Student Council officers will be held on May 5. The president will be a student in this year's Junior Class; the sergeant-at-arms, treasurer and secretary are to be students who are Sophomores this year. It has been announced by the Principal's office that Dick Bostwick is valedictorian and Katherine Macquire salutatorian of the '44 graduating class.

Upper Darby, which trounced Abington, 12-2, for its second victory last week, invades Lower Merion next Thursday, while Haverford's defending champions travel to Abington.

Haverford School, undefeated pacemaker of the Interac League, was handed its first reverse by Girard College, 8-6 in an exhibition game last Thursday.

Haverford College and Villanova College both got off on the wrong foot in their baseball opener's last Saturday. Drexel Tech defeated Haverford, 9-4, at Walton Field, while Army upset Villanova's Marine trainees, 3-1, at West Point.

Betty Goldthorn, Woodcrest, N. J., and L. Bill Richard, Merion, teamed up to win the best ball in the Salvation Army golf tournament at the Bala Golf Club last Sunday. Their scores: 34-39-72. Marine Lt. Patty Berg, one of the nation's most famous woman golfers, and Duff McCullough, Huntingdon Valley, were fourth with 38-38-76.

Upper Darby High retained its trophy in the Suburban Conference, Bowling championships when it qualified seven men for the finals in the second annual contest sponsored by Lower Merion High at Ardmore Recreation last Saturday. The individual champion will be crowned this Saturday afternoon. Pottstown qualified three, Abington three, West Chester and Lower Merion, two each; and Lansdowne, Spring City and Conshohocken one apiece. Bob Atherhail, Lansdowne, led the 120 individuals with 191-140-201-532.

Miss Weber Wed To Lt. W. A. Landis

Bride of Brookline Man Wore Traditional White Satin

Miss June J. Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tuttle Weber, 59 Ardmore Ave., Lansdowne, and Lieutenant Wilson A. Landis, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson A. Landis, Jr., 5 Strathmore Rd., Brookline, were married Saturday in St. John The Evangelist Church, Lansdowne. Dr. Charles E. Tuke, rector of the church, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, high round neckline with inset of net, long sleeves and full skirt ending in a sweeping train. Her shoulder length veil of tulle was caught in a tangle of lace and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and baby's breath.

Mrs. Donald S. Carroll, of Brookline, sister of the groom, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Harriett Thorpe and Nancy MacCausland, of Lansdowne. Their frocks of baby blue marquisette were designed with fitted bodices trimmed with bows of the same material, sweetheart necklines, bracelet length sleeves and full skirts. The matron of honor carried an old fashioned bouquet of red roses tied with coarse satin ribbon and she wore red roses in her hair. The bridesmaids' bouquets and head pieces were of yellow roses, with blue satin ribbons.

Mrs. Weber, mother of the bride, wore a dinner gown of royal blue crepe trimmed with a large design on the left shoulder and she wore a spray of yellow roses in her hair. The groom's mother, Mrs. Landis, chose striped colored crepe trimmed in chausseuse with which she wore a small chausseuse velvet hat and a corsage of carnations.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the Strath Haven Inn, in Swarthmore. Upon returning from a wedding trip to New York, the couple will leave on Sunday for Dodge City, Kansas, where Lieutenant Landis, a pilot in the Army Air Force will have further training on the B26.

Mrs. Landis is a graduate of Brookline High School and Drexel Institute of Technology. Lieutenant Landis, who received his wings at the Blackland Army Air Field, Texas, was graduated from Haverford Township High School and Drexel Institute of Technology.

Parole Head Talks To Soroptimists

Members of the Soroptimist Club of the Main Line held their April meeting April 26 at the Haverford Court Hotel. The main speaker was G. B. Wheeler, Wayne, who is assistant district supervisor of the Pennsylvania Board of Parole. Mr. Wheeler's subject was "Prisoners on Parole From Our Penal Institutions."

The hostesses of the evening were Henrietta Wheeler, chairman, with Eleanor Lewis and Lynda Galloway assisting. At the business meeting reports were read on the annual card party on April 15. Over 300 people attended.

Practical, serviceable, charming to wear, there's nothing that lends more to the housewife's work-day costume than an attractive apron to protect her dress from soil and wear. Every woman needs numerous aprons in a variety of styles and designs.

Aprons can be made inexpensively from cotton bag fabrics which come into your home as containers for flour, sugar, feed, and other staples. Whether it is a large cover-all apron to protect your dress while cooking, a clothes pin apron to serve on wash days, or the dainty apron for guest occasions, the material from laundered cotton bags is readily adaptable. Methods of trimming are countless.

Many sewing tricks, involving fabric-saving, inexpensive ideas, are included in the new, free illustrated booklet, "Bag of Tricks for Home Sewing." To get your copy without cost, write National Cotton Council, Box 18, Memphis 1, Tennessee.

Narberth Juniors

Frank Connolly, Information Specialist of the United States Forest Service, will give an illustrated lecture on forestry at a meeting tonight of the Junior Women's Community Club of Narberth at 8:15 P. M. in the Community Building. Mrs. George P. Kramer, chairman of the Conservation Committee, will present Mr. Connolly.

Nomination and election for the offices of President, first vice-president, corresponding secretary and one director will be held at this meeting. Revision and streamlining of the program for the ensuing year to meet war-time conditions will be discussed.

Mrs. Louis Devaney will be hostess for the evening.

The Book Club of the Juniors met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Louis Devaney, 233 Essex Ave., Narberth. Mrs. John W. Eldenberg reviewed "Who Walk Alone" by Perry Burgess and a review of "Good Night, Sweet Prince" by Gene Fowler was given by Mrs. Roy I. Gowland. Mrs. William M. Harris was co-hostess with Mrs. Devaney.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors was called on Tuesday evening by the president, Mrs. Frederick M. Robb, Jr., at her home, 131 Haverford Ave., Narberth. A work shower was given for Mrs. Harry R. Davis, Jr.

On Thursday, May 4, the officers and committee chairmen of the Senior Women's Community Club of Narberth will be entertained at dinner by the officers and chairmen of the Juniors. Following the dinner, Maria Bailly will appear in a dramatization entitled "Through the Romantic Years" with Harriet Beecher Stowe.

On Monday, April 17, Mrs. John W. Eldenberg, chairman of the dinner, called a meeting of her committee at her home, 208 Woodside Ave., Narberth, to make plans.

Mrs. Robert J. Siegel, co-chairman with Mrs. Eldenberg, is in charge of the program for the evening. Other committee members include Mrs. A. M. Bottoms, Mrs. S. Hulme Brown, Jr., Mrs. William J. Cahill, Mrs. William E. Clear, Jr., Mrs. Louis L. Getzow.

Senators independents claimed a majority of South Ardmore Republican voters signed petitions asking that Painter, an investment broker, be named to the Commission and that James Sius was chosen through the influence of the present Committee members.

An unusual connection relative to the victory of the independent forces is that their candidates were "sticker" and write-in candidates while Mrs. Wilkinson and Stewart had places on the ticket. The trouble started after the time for filing petitions expired but this did not deter them from conducting a strenuous campaign. The "organization" candidates put up just as strenuous a battle but the independents topped their efforts.

Another contest that interested Lower Merionites was that in South Ardmore No. 2 ward, George B. Matthews, incumbent committeeman was defeated for that office by James W. Mullin by a vote of 216 to 153. Mullin is Chief of the Merion Fire Company, a post he held for 14 years. Matthews is a former President of the same company.

Institute to Honor Mrs. Geo. Smitheman

The Women's Auxiliary of the Lankenau Hospital Research Institute for the promotion of cancer research will honor Mrs. George Blakeley Smitheman at tea Monday, May 8 from 3:00 to 5:00 P. M. in the library of the Institute, Corinthian and Girard Aves., Philadelphia.

Mrs. Smitheman is chairman of the labels committee which was organized in 1938 at the home of the president, Mrs. Alfred M. Gray, Overbrook. The work has grown to such an extent that offices were secured in a building in Philadelphia where the committee works sending out labels. Funds realized are used for research in cancer.

The following women have worked faithfully since the committee was organized in 1938. Mrs. Geo. Blakeley Smitheman, chairman, Wynwood; Mrs. John M. Wehrer, Haverford; Mrs. Blanche R. Coleman, Ardmore; Mrs. W. Bruce Scott, Wayne; Mrs. Philip E. Hughes, Wynwood; Mrs. Lewis K. Davenport, Mrs. Louis H. Knodice, Mrs. Harold C. Menough, Mrs. Jos. M. Weaver, Overbrook.

PLOWING FOR MILK

Yes, the farmer must plow and harrow for milk. In this year of war-made shortages and dislocations the Supplee farmer is growing more of his own feeds and improving his pastureage for the sustenance of his herd. He is making a most important contribution to the war effort . . . and to you who expect your supply of rich, carefully guarded Supplee Milk almost as usual. Actually, now, that supply must go three ways:

1. The great proportion of the current supplies must still go to fill the increased needs of the community.
2. Another part must help to provide good health to our boys in nearby Navy and Coast Guard stations, local hospitals, and Army centers.

3. The remainder must be processed into proper forms for shipment abroad to our armies and fighting friends.

That's why THE AMOUNT OF MILK WE CAN DELIVER TO YOU REMAINS FIXED BY GOVERNMENT QUOTA . . . and why, this year, you won't be able to appease the children's warm-weather thirsts with unlimited glasses of the food drink that's so wonderfully good for them.

But you can keep right on working out your milk supply with your Supplee milkman . . . we know you'll continue to order your fair requirements. You can, too, we're happy to say, take as much of your order as you wish in the milk that's extra nourishing, and most easily digested . . . Supplee Sealtest Homogenized Vitamin D Milk, with the cream mixed throughout.
